Courses taught in other languages than German are marked with a blue button and an ISO-shortcut for the respective language in the course directory u:find. The ISO-shortcut for courses taught in English for example is "en". The ISO-shortcuts for other languages can be found here.

There are two different ways to search for courses in other languages than German.

Number 1: Enter one or more search terms into the u:find search bar. The following overview will appear:

The screenshot shows the u:find search interface. At the top, there is a search bar containing the text "philosophy mind" and a "SEARCH" button. Below the search bar, there are navigation tabs: "All", "Courses" (highlighted with a red box), "Exams", "Staff", and "Units". Below the tabs, there are filters for "6 hits", "fuzzy", and "clear". The main content area displays a list of search results, each with a course ID, title, ECTS value, language code (en), and department. The results are:

You can then filter the course list by clicking on “all languages” and choosing the language you are interested in.

Number 2: You can also find courses not taught in German by entering the following command in u:find (without brackets, with blank characters):

- lang:[ISO-Code of the language] spl[SPLnumber] [year][W or S]

The “SPL number” can be found by clicking on “Browse - Course Directory” in u:find – each directorate of studies (SPL) has its own number.

Example for courses held in English from Social and Cultural Anthropology in the winter semester 2020:
lang:en spl24 2020W

Sometimes one directorate of studies lists several fields of study. In this case, you can filter courses taught in English of your field of study by entering the following command:

- [year][W or S] lang:[ISO-Code of the language] +sge:[field of study]
Example for courses from Statistics taught in English in the winter semester 2020:
2020W lang:en +sge:Statistik

The name of the field of study must be entered in German because the English terms often do not yield any results.
