BERICHT ÜBER DEN STUDIENAUFENTHALT

I studied at Macquarie and took the following classes: 'Knowledge, Language and Power' (Philosophy), "Screen Production: Open Form Filmmaking" and "Documentary Media: Forms, Histories, Futures". During my stay I preferred staying outside of the campus since the campus was really far away from everything. I am really glad that I did that because I got to experience the city a bit more. To find accommodation I would recommend using the Facebook group "Sydney Inner Westies." (I am not sure about the name but should be something like that.) Inner West is also not directly at the center, but it is a hip place with nice bars and generally young people prefer staying there. Newtown and Marrickville inside Inner West are great places to go out. Marrickville was my favourite place to live. It is not super close to the beach, but still has a lot of things to offer. Also Sydney is a hard place to get around when one does not have a car. So finding a central place can be important. Since it took me 1-1:30 hours to get to the campus I took some of my classes online. This was perfect, since it gave me the flexibility to travel freely. I would say Macquarie is not an exceptional university but the class "screen production" was really helpful for me and I would recommend it to anyone who is interested in any sort of filmmaking. The philosophy class was also highly interesting. I didn't have any exams, but had to write essays, which were super easy.

My favorite activities in Sydney were taking the ferry and going to Manly. Also you should explore Palm Beach. That whole area is just incredible. My favourite walks in the Blue Mountaints were the Porters Pass and the Grand Canyon. It is absolutely a must. Reaching the Blue Mountains is fairly simple. You can take a train to Katoomba and stay at the "flying fox backpackers". Download "AllTrails" to find all the nice bushwalks around Australia. If you have access to a car and want to go out camping, download "campemate". It is a really good app that shows all the national park camping spots. Warning: camping spots do not have any reception, I had to learn it the hard way... Travelling solo and without a car can be really expensive. Try planning things ahead, since everything can become overpriced and things do sell out pretty quickly. Check out the weather warnings and remember that the seasons might differ in different states. And don't get caught in a rip whilst swimming!

All in all it was a great experience and I would recommend it to anyone.
