Call 2023-2024
Project period
October 1st, 2023 to September 30th, 2024

I. GENERAL GUIDELINES

- All universities involved in the project must be ASEA-UNINET (full) members or candidate members (henceforth member universities).

- All project participants in receipt of funding must be employees of the Austrian or ASEAN (or Pakistan) member university/universities at the time when the project is carried out. Categories of persons eligible for funding: doctoral students and researchers (clinical traineeship projects are exempt from this restriction).

- The following university employees of an Austrian member university are eligible to submit a project application:
  a. holders of a professorship or a post-doctoral university teaching qualification (“Habilitation”)
  b. members of the rectorate
  c. heads of organisational units with responsibilities in research, development and fostering of the arts or in teaching.

- Other university members are eligible to apply under the following condition: They must enclose a short letter of recommendation with their application. This letter of recommendation is to be issued either by a member of the rectorate of the applicant university (group b) or by a member of group a or c of the assigned organisational unit.

- Maximum of 2 projects per eligible applicant may be submitted (in exceptional and very well-justified cases also more – decision by the coordinator plus board member). If a request is re-submitted for projects that could not be carried out due to COVID-19, then the number of submissions increases to a maximum of 4 projects per eligible applicant. Clinical traineeship projects are exempt from these restrictions.

- Maximum of 6 funded mobilities per project (in well-justified cases also more – decision by the coordinator plus board member). Clinical traineeship projects are exempt from this restriction.

- Both the initiation of a cooperation project as well as the execution of a cooperation project can receive funding, although the type and extent of funding may differ significantly (see this guideline). For example, an initiation of a cooperation project could entail the start of a cooperation with a member university and may be loosely defined.
- Funded duration of stay:
  a. Initiation of cooperation projects (only researchers are eligible for funding, no doctoral students): up to 7 working days (per mobility)
  b. Implementation of cooperation projects (researchers and doctoral students are eligible for funding; clinical traineeships are exempt from this rule): The minimum duration of stay per mobility is 1 week (shorter stays must be argued convincingly and approved by the board), maximum duration of stay: 3 months.
- Short trips serving exclusively for the purpose of holding lectures or attending congresses will not be supported.
- Ad clinical traineeships: Application (as before) in the course of the project call. The duration of a clinical traineeship within the framework of ASEA-UNINET must be four weeks. Pro-rata funding for shorter stays is NOT possible. To be eligible for funding the clinical trainee must register with the OeAD via SCHOLARSHIPS.AT.
- The minimum teaching extent in case of project proposals consisting only of a visiting lecturing stay is 1 lecture unit per week throughout the semester (i.e. 14 lecture units of 45 minutes each for a semester), an official confirmation is required. The extent of the postgraduate teaching must be specified in the form of ECTS credits.
- If more than one Austrian member university is involved in a project, each member university must submit a separate application (including a reference to the partner application).
- The project applications must be submitted to the OeAD via the online tool SCHOLARSHIPS.AT. After the OeAD has checked that the formal requirements have been met the applications will be released to the ASEA-UNINET coordinator of the relevant university and the "experts" named by the coordinator.
- The coordinator of the applying Austrian ASEA-UNINET member university / the Austrian candidate member university is responsible for checking the content of the project proposals. In the compulsory "collective application" to be signed by him/her he/she will specify which of the submitted projects should be funded by ASEA-UNINET and in what amount. The collective application must be prepared after expiry of the deadline for the submission of (individual) project applications within the period specified in the call.
- The pro-rata funding amounts granted (travel expenses, scholarship rates, material costs) may be altered ("virementfähig") as long as the total amount granted remains the same.
- For projects that cannot be carried out/completed by the end of September 2023 for exceptional reasons, the consumption period can be extended up to the end of December 2023 at the latest. Requirement: Informal application by e-mail to barbara.karahan@oead.at AND approval by the ASEA-UNINET National Coordinator (application deadline: end of September 2023).
- One report per project carried out is mandatory. This report will be published in the ASEA-UNINET’s annual report and possibly in excerpts on the websites of the OeAD and of ASEA-UNINET.
